

Now that we are injoying the peace of not having twenty to thirty calls per day, I don't think we need to permit "established business relationship" callers to be permitted to be exempt from Indiana's telephone privacy law. If they are true establised business doing current business with me I am going to be in contact with them on my schedule.